MAKE IT A SIMPLE THANKSGIVING MEAL

THE TURKEYS JUST NATURALLY SOAR IN PRICE.

PLEA FOR HOME COOK

University Economics Head Issues Plea for Family to Co-operate in Giving Mother a Holiday.

"When the turkey's on the platter"—Oh say, now, lets don't make it a turkey this Thanksgiving. The cost of a nice little turkey, big enough to make a good helping all around, will take an awful chunk out of Mrs House keeper's weekly budget. Then you may have to bean loaf and mock oysters and some more of those hard boiled meat substitutes for a week afterward.

A ten pound turkey, to say nothing of the trimmings, will cost about $4. There were less than two dozen in the city this morning and the chances are that very few orders for Thanksgiving turkeys can be filled. One dealer spent Sunday driving over the country trying to locate some but was able to get a very few.

The cost runs from 33 to 35 cents per pound live and about 40 cents dressed. Geese have been much in demand but there are practically none on the market. Chickens and ducks are fairly plentiful the former at a cost of 22 to 28 cents per pound and ducks at 20 to 25 cents.

But what's turkey without oyster dressing and cranberry sauce. Its no good. 9nd the oysters will spend you just 75 cents per quart, but thank goodness, there is one thing that is the same old price. Cranberries are still 15 cents per quart. Celery and nuts for salad will cost 25 cents for two nice bunches of celery and $1.25 for the shelled nuts. Applies are 5 to 10 cents each for the extra nice ones and bananas 15 cents per pound. Other prices run about the same as they have been for the past two years and the vegetables being shown in the stores today are very fine and the selection is varied.

Desserts are not going to be mentioned. Of course one has dessert with a Thanksgiving dinner and the prices are such that the housekeeper will not gasp when she hears it, for they are the most moderate priced thing to be served.

As the day approaches, everyone is thinking about the Thanksgiving feast, but it is left to Miss Louise Stanley professor of home economics at the University of Missouri to make a plea for mother. Instead of being a holiday for mother it ofen become a day of drudgery and this is how it might be avoided says Miss Stanley;

"Cannot the whole family unite in planning a meal this year which will be as palatable as the usual feast and at the same time be one which can be prepared in advance, so that the mother might enjoy a holiday with the rest of the family?

For the usual turkey, substitute this year a good fat fowl. This can be made ready the day before and stuffing prepared. If there is any danger of the fowl's being tough, it might be well to spend Thanksgiving eve at the filerless cooker. It is a simple job then to put it in the oven to brown and reheat at the time of serving.

Potatoes, for the candied sweet potatoes, can be boiled and peeled and placed aside in the pan in which they are to be cooked. Reheat these in white sirup with a little butter while the chicken is browning. One green or root vegetable should be provided. This can be washed and got ready for cooking the evening before.

Cranberry sauce should be made in advance. The celery should be washed and put away in a cool place and wrapped in a damp towel. The materials for salads should be ready to combine. Apples, nuts and c[illegible] make a good combination for the going menu.

With the dressing ready, nuts picked, celery ready to be diced, a[illegible] apples ready to cut, the assemblin[illegible] of the salad takes but a short time. The children in the family can well help in this preparation.

The pie for the dessert, if pie it must be, can be prepared the day before and be ready to go in the oven for reheating when the fowl comes out. If it is ice cream, it can be ready for the freezing, and father can freeze it while the rest of the family heats up the remainder of the dinner. Charlotte rousee might be prepared the day before. The children will take more interest in the dinner if they have a part. The candy and the nuts, if they are to be used, might well be provided by them several days in advance.

Let us see to it this year that Thanksgiving day does not mean that mother is kept tied to the kitchen for the whole day long, and let us make the meal a co-operative proposition with as much as possible made in advance.

REV. SNODGRASS PREACHING TO CROWD NIGHTLY AT REVIVAL

Rev. R. E. Snodgrass will preach tonight upon the subject of "Repentance" at the revival service at the First Christian church. This sermon will be along more practical lines and no doubt be of great interest. The big chorus filled the platform last night and their music under the leadership of Prof. Kay, is growing more popular with the people. Mr. Snodgrass' sermon last night dwelt more particularly along technical lines of doctrine and the speaker spent no little time in enforcing the fact that all christian people ought to be united in christian work.

In developing the analogy of his subject, "Hand writing on the Heart" he said the writer was God or Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith; the pen used was the apostles or revealed the mystery of the gospel; the ink was the Holy Spirit which filled the apostles, making them really foun tain pens in the writing of the gospel and the paper the hearts of men and women."

"One thing that was written upon the New Testament heart was the unity of God's people. Paul inspired of the Holy Spirit wrote on the Corinthian heart, "I beseech you that you all speak the same thing and that there be no divisions among you, but that ye be perfected together in the same mind and in the same judgment" But the Corinthians deliberately erased this statement and began saying 'I am of Paul or I am of Cephas or I am of Apollos, and we today are guilty of the same thing."

"Very few preachers today in view of these plain statements of the Apostle, are any longer apologizing for setraian division on the sickly plea that the different tastes and feelings of the human race can be accomodated by the different creed of the time. They are coming to see that these tastes are to be satisfied by the one creed, that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God. Surely this lesson is to be learned out of the horrors of the war. The weakness of division has been demonstrated so many times of late. It is time the church had a voice in the problems of the hour, but this voice can only be heard as it is spoken by a united church."

Quotations were read from ministers and statesmen of other religious bodies in favor of Christian union, showing that it is no longer a peculiar plea or doctrine of one or two bodies but the whole Christian world is preaching it and advocating it. The minister took up the different proof texts having to do with the old covenant and the new covenant and many passages of scripture were used to prove his conclusions.

NEED 14 ENUMERATORS FOR CENSUS

EFFORTS WILL BE MADE BY C OF C TO SECURE APPLICANTS

BLANKS AT C. OF C. OFFICE

Seeking Appointment Should at One for These Blanks. Provisions of Law.

Nodaway county i sstill short fourteen enmerators for the census to be taken commencing January 2. Atchi township is short two; Green two; Hughes two; Independence one; Lincoln two; Jefferson one; Polk three; and White Cloud one.

Efforts will be made by the Chamber of Commerce to see that sufficient enumerators are secured for this work. At the office of Secretary Geo. A. Pickens will be found application blanks and also an illustrative example of manner of filling out [illegible] pulation schedule. Each applicant for appointment being required to fill out such blank. This is the only test required of the applicant.

The Chamber of Comerce feels that it is a matter of county pride to see that enough enumerators are had for this important work so that the county in the coming census will get her just dues.

Anyone who is wanting to be an applicant as census enumerator should call at once at the office of Secretary Pickens.

Under the provisions of the census act, the enumeration in January, is restricted to inquiries relating to population, to agriculture, to manufacturer to forestry and forest products, and to mines and quarries, but under the discretionary power vested in the Director of Census, the inquiries relative to manufactures, to forestry and forest products, and to mines and quarries will for the most part be collected either by special agents appointed appointed directly by the Director or by employees of the Census Bureau specially detailed for the purpose.

The census act provides that the enumeration of population and agriculture shall begin on January 2, and that each enumerator shall complete the work required in his district with in thirty days and in the case of rural districts and small towns, and within two weeks in any city having 2,500 in 1910.

The law requires that an enumerator, so far as practicable, be an acutal resident of the sub division within which his duties are to be performed. He should be familiar with its territory and general character of its people.

The census requires as enumerators active, energetic persons of good address. They must be between 18 and 70 years of age, citizens of the United States. They must have at least ordinary education and be able to write plainly and with reasonable rapidity.

Each person seeking appointment as census enumerators must make a writ ten application to the supervisor for the district of which a resident, and said application must be made through out in the handwriting of the applicant and must be indorced by two representative business men of the community in which the applicant resides

All applicants for appointment will be required to submit to a test. This test is of a practical character, consisting of the filling out of a sample schedule of population from data furnished and in the case of enumerators whose work will be in rural districts, the filling out of a sample schedule of agriculture.

Each applicant is furnished with an illustrative example of the manner of filling the population schedule, and, in country districts, with an illustrative example of the agricultural schedule, to which, in the main, the work of the census enumerators is confined.

It will be necessary for each enumerator, before entering upon his duties, to receive a commission, and to tack and subscribe an oath or affirmation that he will faithfully discharge all the duties required of him under the law.

The census act also provides that an enumerator, after accepting an appointment and qualifying for the work can not without justifable cause, refuse or neglect to perform the duties of the position; and he will further be required to devote his entire work ing time to the census during the period of the enumeration.

The compensation to be paid to enumerators is fixed by the census act, and an allowance of not less than two or more than four cents for each inhabitant, not less than twenty nor more than thirty cents for each farm reported, not less than twenty nor more than fifty cents for each irrigation or drainage enterprise reported, and ten cents for each barn and inclosure containing live stock not on farms, is provided. In other subdivisions where per diem rates are necesary, because of the difficulty of the enumeration, the enumerator may be allowed, in the discretion of the direct or, a compensation of not less than $3 nor more than $6 per day of eight hours actual field work each. Except in extreme cases, no claim for mileage or traveling expenses will be allowed to any enumerator, and then only [illegible]en authority has been previously granted by the director of the census.

The Mexican government is keeping sentiment with regard to the Jenkins case, it was learned at the Mexican embassy today. Regarding the price of Silk Fabrics

An excerpt from Women's Wear Issue of Nov. 5

The advance in prices for the past two years has been constant. Take crepe chine, as an instance. Two years ago, perhaps even one year ago, it was possible to buy a certain construction of this weave at 75 cents a yard or thereabouts. Today the same constructions are selling for $2, $2.25 and $2.50. And this weave is only a sample of what has been done with all the most wanted weaves in the market.

The price of Silk Blouses Must go higher. Buy now and buy Savingly.

—The price of Silk fabrics is excessively high and is going higher. The above article from an authentic paper in the Dry Goods field reports advances of over 200%. In view of this condition, here is a most remarkable offering of

Wirthmor Silk Blouses

This is the last lot at just

$5.00

The next shipment will be $6.75

—This very low price was established early last May, and was based on the cost of the materials when purchased last March. If purchased on todays market the price would necessarily be much higher, and this is the last lot of Silk Blouses of this character that can be sold at this modest sum, for with this shipment the maker's material stocks purchased at lower levels will have been exhausted. That the price must advance is not surprising, rather it is surprising that the price has been held down so long. This is in accordance with the established Wirthmor policy to "keep prices as low as you can as long as you can."

There are eight new models in Georgette Crepe and Crepe de Chine, in tailored and trimmed styles. There is a limited quantity and no added quantities will be obtainable.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

May be Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — This Letter Proves It.

West Philadelphia, Pa.—"During the thirty years I have been married, I have been in bad health and had several attacks of nervous prostration until it seemed as if the organs in my whole body were worn out. I was finally persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made a well woman of me. I can now do all my housework and advise all ailing women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I will guarantee they will derive great benefit from it."—Mrs. FRANK FITZGERALD, 25 N. 41st Street, West Philadelphia, Pa.

There are thousands of women everywhere in Mrs. Fitzgerald's condition, suffering from nervousness, backache, headaches, and other symptoms of a functional derangement. It was a grateful spirit for health restored which led her to write this letter so that other women may benefit from her experience and find health as she has done.

For suggestions in regard to your condition write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years experience is at your service.

Organization Through Co-operation

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) attributes to organization its success in discharging its obligations as a public servant.

The business of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a highly specialized branch of industry, where complete co-operation is necessary to insure maximum efficiency.

Every one of the 22,000 men and women who make up the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) family must have a thorough, broad-gauged understanding of the benefits to be derived from organization.

In addition each must have an intensive training which makes him a specialist, and enables him to complete his part of the work and pass it on to others without delay or lost motion.

The result is a family of highly trained individuals, tense and keen to render to the public the utmost in service.

But Standard Oil Company (Indiana) organization goes further. To give a single illustration:

When a manufacturer has two machines, identical in construction, but not equal in production, he calls on the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for expert assistance and advice.

A competent engineer goes over the problem and after thorough investigation, finds the lubricating oil necessary to cope with conditions surrounding the inefficient machine, and to bring it up to full capacity.

Thus does the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) organization extend to industry generally, a service resulting in a combination to promote trade that production may be increased and the utmost in service given to the public.

It's surprising how fast good news travels. We hadn't any more than finished the installation of our "Doughnut Factory" until the people began to find out the real honest-to-goodness and home made qualities of our doughnuts. People say that they are unusually light and browned to perfection—and so crisp, they just melt in your mouth.

We sold 400 dozens of them last week—and you don't know what you missed if you didn't get one of them.
